

BELL TENT IN THE CAMPING FIELD

Fistral

A bell tent on level ground in the camping field, with a gas cooker and chiminea on its own timber deck and a flat walk to the shower block.

Sleeps up to 4 · A double bed and two single beds · Dogs welcome

Fistral is one of the two bell tents pitched down in the camping field, and it borrows its name from the surf beach at Newquay. Inside there's matting underfoot, a double bed and two singles, all made up with bedding and towels before you arrive. Out on the deck there's a gas cooker and a chiminea, with logs for your first night. Bring food; the rest is already standing.

What separates Fistral from the hillside tents is the ground it stands on. It is flat. The deck sits level with the field, the carry from the car is short and even, and the facilities are a straight walk away with nothing to climb. If you're arriving with a toddler, a travel cot and a cool box, this is the easier end of the park by some margin.

It's the sociable end too. The football goals and the swings are in these fields, children tend to have found each other by the second morning, and August is lively down here. If quiet matters more to you than convenience, the hillside tents sit further from the fields. The bell tents run from April to September.

Where it sits: Down in the camping field on flat ground, one of the pair of bell tents on the valley floor — no hill between the car and the deck.

Good to know before you book

- There's no cooking inside the canvas, but your deck has a gas cooker of its own. The cook deck at the facilities is there too, shared with everyone on the park.
- Showers and toilets are in the shared block, open 24 hours, with baby changing in both the male and female toilets. From Fistral it's flat the whole way — no steps, no hill.
- Bedding and towels are provided and the beds are made up. Bring your own food.
- There's a chiminea on the deck outside, with logs for your first night — for the late-night marshmallows.
- Four in a bell tent is still plenty spacious: one round canvas room with a double and two singles in it.
- The camping fields are the busiest part of the park in high season, so if you're here with children or camping alongside family, this tent is ideal for being in the thick of it all. That's the trade for being closest to everything.
- BBQs and firepits are welcome — please raise them off the grass or the decking on a stand or bricks.
- The bell tents run from April to September. Outside those months the lodges, the school bus and the Airstream stay open, and camping pitches run in their own seasons.
- Dogs are welcome. Please keep them on a lead no longer than two metres, exercise them in the area provided, and don't leave them unattended. We can't accept Rottweilers, Dobermans, Bull Mastiffs, Pit Bull Terriers or their crosses.
- Arrive from 3pm, leave by 10am.
