

BELL TENT ON THE UPPER HILLSIDE

Sea Champion

The middle tent of the three on the upper hillside, just above St Enodoc. High and quiet, named for the flower on the cliffs.

Sleeps up to 4 · A double bed and two single beds · Dogs welcome

Sea champion is the white flower that grows in the grass along the cliffs near Bude, coming out of the wind in cushions where nothing much else will. Sea Champion the tent is the middle of the three on the upper hillside, just above St Enodoc as the path climbs, with St Petroc higher still. Its own private deck with a chiminea, matting underfoot, and a double bed and two singles all made up with bedding and towels before you arrive.

The path up is steep, on grass and uneven in places, and you do it with your bags in your hands on the first afternoon. We would rather you knew that from this page than from the hill. It is not the right choice for anyone with limited mobility, and it is not the right choice if you are arriving with a car's worth of luggage.

What you get for it is height and quiet. You are well up above the valley floor here, and it runs away below the deck with nothing in the way of it. People who book Sea Champion tend to book it again. The shower block and toilets are in the glamping car park, open 24 hours and less than five minutes' walk away, and the communal glamping cook deck is about the same again, with the washing-up and a fridge and freezer. Take a torch for after dark. The bell tents run from April to September.

Where it sits: The middle of the three upper-hillside tents — just above St Enodoc as the path climbs, with St Petroc higher still, and the valley below.

Good to know before you book

- The path up is steep. It's grass, uneven in places, and you'll carry your bags up it on arrival and down again when you leave.
- That rules it out for anyone with limited mobility, and it makes hard work of a lot of luggage. St Enodoc is the shortest of the three upper climbs; Hartland and Kernow are a gentle rise; Fistral and Polzeath are flat.
- Pack light and in one go if you can. It's a walk you'd rather do once.
- Showers and toilets are in the shared block in the glamping car park, less than five minutes' walk from the tent and open 24 hours. It may be worth bringing a torch for after dark.
- There's no cooking inside the tent, but you do have a gas cooker on the decking right outside it. The communal glamping cook deck is about five minutes' walk for the washing-up and the fridge and freezer, and Bude is about two miles away for everything else.
- Bedding and towels are provided and the beds are made up. Bring your own food.
- Four in a bell tent is still plenty spacious: one round canvas room with a double and two singles in it.
- The bell tents run from April to September. Outside those months the lodges, the school bus and the Airstream stay open, and camping pitches run in their own seasons.
- Dogs are welcome, though the climb is worth thinking about with an older dog. Please keep them on a lead no longer than two metres, exercise them in the area provided, and don't leave them unattended. We can't accept Rottweilers, Dobermans, Bull Mastiffs, Pit Bull Terriers or their crosses.
- Arrive from 3pm, leave by 10am.
