

BELL TENT ON THE UPPER HILLSIDE

St Petroc

The last of the three tents on the upper hillside, on the highest deck we have — the longest climb of the three, and the view down the valley that pays for it.

Sleeps up to 4 · A double bed and two single beds · Dogs welcome

St Petroc takes its name from the Cornish saint who gave Padstow its name, and it is the last of the three tents you come to as the path climbs the upper hillside, on the highest deck at Willow Valley. Its own private deck with a chiminea, matting underfoot, and a double bed and two singles made up with bedding and towels before you arrive.

The path up is steep. We would rather write that plainly here than let you discover it with a bag in each hand. It is a proper climb on grass, uneven in places, and it is the reason these three tents feel as separate from the rest of the park as they do. Of the three, St Petroc asks the most of you. It's the last deck you reach, so you climb past the other two to get to it. And it is not the right pick if anyone in the party has limited mobility or you're arriving with a lot of luggage.

For most people it's a trade worth making. You are above the valley here, with nothing between the deck and the long view down it, and the noise of the camping fields is a distant thing. The shower block and toilets are in the glamping car park, open 24 hours and less than five minutes' walk away, and the communal glamping cook deck is about the same again — that's where the washing-up and the fridge and freezer are. Pack a torch for after dark. The bell tents run from April to September.

Where it sits: The last of the three upper-hillside tents you reach as the path climbs from the main track, and the highest deck on the park — with St Enodoc and Sea Campion below it.

What you get

- ✓ Double bed plus two single beds — sleeps up to 4
- ✓ Beds made up with bedding and towels before you arrive
- ✓ Its own private raised deck
- ✓ The highest deck on the park, at the top of the three-tent climb
- ✓ Shared shower and toilet block in the glamping car park, open 24 hours
- ✓ Dogs welcome
- ✓ Chiminea on the deck, with logs for your first night
- ✓ Matting underfoot
- ✓ A long view down the valley from high on the hillside
- ✓ A gas cooker on your own deck
- ✓ Communal glamping cook deck for the washing-up, with a fridge and freezer

Showers, toilets & cooking

Showers and toilets are in the shared block in the glamping car park, open 24 hours and less than five minutes' walk away. There's no cooking inside the tent, but the deck outside has a gas cooker of its own, and the communal glamping cook deck has the washing-up and a fridge and freezer.

Good to know before you book

- The path up to St Petroc is steep. It's a climb on grass, uneven in places, and you'll do it carrying your bags on the way in. St Petroc is the last of the three upper tents, so it's the longest of those climbs.
- For that reason this isn't the right choice for anyone with limited mobility, or for a party travelling with a lot of luggage. Hartland and Kernow on the lower hillside are a gentle rise; Fistral and Polzeath in the camping field are flat.
- Showers and toilets are in the shared block in the glamping car park, less than five minutes' walk from the tent. The block is open 24 hours; it may be worth bringing a torch for after dark.
- There's no cooking inside the tent, but you do have a gas cooker on the decking right outside it. The communal glamping cook deck is about five minutes' walk for the washing-up and the fridge and freezer, and Bude is about two miles away for everything else.
- Bedding and towels are provided and the beds are made up. Bring your own food.
- Four in a bell tent is still plenty spacious: one round canvas room with a double and two singles in it.
- The bell tents run from April to September. Outside those months the lodges, the school bus and the Airstream stay open, and camping pitches run in their own seasons.
- Dogs are welcome, but bear the climb in mind for an older dog. Please keep them on a lead no longer than two metres, exercise them in the area provided, and don't leave them unattended. We can't accept Rottweilers, Dobermans, Bull Mastiffs, Pit Bull Terriers or their crosses.
- Arrive from 3pm, leave by 10am.
