

FISTRAL & POLZEATH

Bell tents — camping area

Two spacious bell tents on level ground in the camping fields, each with a gas cooker and chiminea on its deck, and the shower block a short flat walk away.

Sleeps up to 4 · A double bed and two singles, all made up · Dogs welcome

Two of our seven bell tents stand down among the camping fields: Fistral and Polzeath. This page introduces that pair — each has a page of its own, linked below, if you want the detail before you choose between them.

Both stand on their own private deck with a gas cooker and a chiminea, matting underfoot, and a double bed and two singles all made up with bedding and towels — the canvas-camping feeling without owning any of the kit.

This is the most sociable corner of the park and the easiest to reach. The ground is level, there's no hill to climb with the bags, and the facilities are a short flat walk from the deck. If you're travelling with young children, or you'd simply rather not carry a cool box uphill, these are the two to book.

They sleep up to four and make a good first step into glamping: more comfortable than a tent you've pitched yourself, but still properly under canvas with the valley around you. Both have a gas cooker on the deck, so a bacon butty doesn't mean walking anywhere — and the cook deck at the facilities is a couple of minutes away if you want more room. The bell tents run from April to September.

Where it sits: Down among the camping fields on level ground — the closest of all the bell tents to the facilities, with no hill to climb.

COOKING	Gas cooker on your deck

Good to know before you book

- Open April–September. Outside those months the lodges stay open, as do Bluebird and Boskenna, and the camping pitches run in their own seasons.
- There's no cooking inside the canvas, but each deck has a gas cooker of its own — and the cook deck at the facilities is a couple of minutes away.
- Showers and toilets are in the shared block, which is open 24 hours, with baby changing in both the male and female toilets.
- Bedding and towels are provided.
- There's a chiminea on the deck outside each tent, with logs for your first night.
- The camping fields are the busiest part of the park in high season. If you want quiet, the hillside bell tents sit further from the fields.
- BBQs and firepits are welcome — please raise them off the grass or the decking on a stand or bricks.
- Dogs are welcome, on a lead no longer than two metres and exercised in the area provided. Please don't leave them unattended.

The tents in this area

Fistral

The camping field on the flat, named for the surf beach at Newquay. Closest of all seven bell tents to the facilities, with the football goals and swings in the same fields. It has a page of its own.

Polzeath

Fistral's neighbour on the same level ground, with the dog wash behind reception and the river and woodland walks starting at the edge of the field. Same deck, same gas cooker and chiminea, same beds made up for four — and its own page too.
