

THE UPPER HILLSIDE

Bell tents — upper hillside

St Petroc, St Enodoc and Sea Campion — the three highest tents on the park, at the top of a steep path, with the best views we have.

Sleeps up to 4 · A double bed and two single beds · Dogs welcome

St Petroc, St Enodoc and Sea Campion are the three bell tents on the upper hillside — the highest stays on the park and, without much argument from us, the best views. This page is the overview of all three; each has a page of its own, linked below, because the climb and the outlook change as you go up.

Each sits on its own private deck with a chiminea, matting underfoot, a double bed and two singles, all made up with bedding and towels. It's canvas camping without owning any of the kit.

The path up to them is steep, and we'd rather say so here than have you find out with the bags in your hands. It's a proper climb from the track. It's also the reason these three feel as private as they do: once you're up, the valley is below you and there's nothing in the way of the view. For most people that's a trade worth making — but it isn't the right pick if anyone in the party has limited mobility, or if you're arriving with a lot of luggage.

The bell tents run from April to September. The shower block and toilets are in the glamping car park, open 24 hours and less than five minutes' walk from the tents, and the communal glamping cook deck is about the same again — that's where the washing-up and the fridge and freezer live. A torch is still worth packing for after dark.

Where it sits: The three highest tents at Willow Valley, up on the hillside above the valley floor and reached by a steep path from the main track.

What you get

- ✓ Double bed plus two single beds — sleeps up to 4

Showers, toilets & cooking

Showers and toilets are in the block in the glamping car park, shared with other guests, open around the clock and less than five minutes' walk from the tent. There's no cooking inside the canvas, but every deck has its own gas cooker, and the communal glamping cook deck is about five minutes away with the washing-up and a fridge and freezer.

Good to know before you book

- The path up to St Petroc, St Enodoc and Sea Campion is steep. It's a climb on grass, uneven in places, and you'll do it with your bags on the way in. The views are the reason people take it on, but go in knowing it's there.
- For the same reason, these three aren't the right choice for anyone with limited mobility, or for a party travelling with a lot of luggage. Our other bell tents sit lower down the park and are an easier walk from the car.
- Showers and toilets are in the shared block in the glamping car park, less than five minutes' walk from the tents. The block is open 24 hours; it may be worth bringing a torch for after dark.
- There's no cooking inside the tent, but you do have a gas cooker on the decking right outside it. The communal glamping cook deck is about five minutes' walk for the washing-up and the fridge and freezer, and Bude is about two miles away for everything else.
- The bell tents are open April–September. Outside those months the lodges, the school bus and the Airstream stay open.
- Dogs are welcome. Please keep them on a lead no longer than two metres, exercise them in the area provided, and don't leave them unattended. We can't accept Rottweilers, Dobermans, Bull Mastiffs, Pit Bull Terriers or their crosses.
- Arrive from 3pm, leave by 10am.

The tents in this area

St Enodoc

Named after the little church in the dunes over at Rock. The first of the three you reach as the path climbs: a double, two singles and a chiminea on its own deck, the long view down the valley, and the shortest of the three walks up. It has a page of its own too.

Sea Campion

Named for the white flower that grows all along the cliffs near Bude. Just above St Enodoc, and the middle of the three as the path climbs — same layout, same long view down the valley. See its own page for the detail.

St Petroc

Named after the Cornish saint who gave Padstow its name. Double bed, two singles and a chiminea on its own deck, and the third tent you reach, on the highest deck of the three. It may have the longest walk up, but it is worth it for the views down the valley. Full write-up on its own page.
